Hair Loss Support Services in Cancer care

This information is available in other formats on request. Please ask your nursing staff to arrange this

We offer a friendly and private service each Wednesday afternoon between 2pm - 4pm in the Ripley Room within the Sir Robert Ogden Macmillan Centre.

You will be welcomed by friendly and experienced volunteers who can provide practical help and advice in choosing and wearing a wide range of headwear. Tell us your requirements and try on as many hats and scarves as you wish.

Our skilled volunteers can demonstrate ways of tying scarves and suggest tips to add little extras to co-ordinate your headwear with an outfit.

There is no need to book, just call in.

Our sleep caps, indoor lightweight caps, scarves and a large selection of smart outdoor head wear are all made using soft materials which do not scratch or irritate, but fit firmly.

We offer advice on hair and wig care, as well as helpful tips for looking after your skin, scalp and make-up.

Our range of head wear is sold at competitive and affordable prices. It is supplied by a company who specialise in products to meet the needs of cancer patients affected by hair loss.

We believe that if you feel stylish and comfortable you will feel good about yourself too.

If you would like further information on the range of hair loss services we provide please contact the Sir Robert Ogden Macmillan Patient Information and Health and Wellbeing Manager.
